

U. S. TO TAKE ACTIVE CHARGE OF MINES

HOUSE GROUP APPROVES BILL FOR FOOD CZAR

Wants Shift Rationing and Pricing of Edibles Away from OPA.

WASHINGTON, June 24—Repeal of the war production control act by the house agriculture committee today approved a bill to create a "food czar" with complete control over wartime food production, distribution, pricing and rationing.

Senator Fulmer (D-SC) said the measure, frowned upon by President Roosevelt, would "create a czar for foods similar to the way now handling the war production board rubber and oil."

The legislation, if it becomes law, would take from the office of price administration all food rationing and pricing powers and place them under the war food administrator, Chester C. Davis.

Approval of the bill was by an 8-5 committee vote, with all 13 Republican members and six Democrats supporting it. Eight Democrats opposed.

Such an all-powerful food administrator had been suggested by the Republican congressional food supply committee.

This measure was the focal point of a general crescendo toward a Washington climax on the whole issue of food control.

Other development included these:

The senate worked on a myriad of proposals for limiting government spending, including subsidies to producers to support food price rebalances.

A compromise giving the war food administrator complete jurisdiction over the farm security administration loan and tenant purchase activities, but curtailing funds for the program, was accepted by the house, and now the bill is in the senate. In attempting to adjust its differences with the senate on the 1944 agriculture appropriations bill, the house altered its previous stand for abolition of the agency.

Reports of improved weather and crop conditions, particularly in midwestern grain, livestock and dairy regions, eased official apprehension over 1943 food production prospects.

Proponents want the authority over food production, transportation, distribution, pricing and rationing placed under Chester C. Davis, war food administrator who now is in charge of production and distribution.

On the bright side of the farm and food picture, the weather bureau in a weekly summary of crop conditions said the past week brought the most favorable agricultural weather of the year, a countrywide basis. Two weeks ago the agriculture department said crop prospects were at the lowest in two years.

33 STRICKEN BY FOOD POISONING

2 Former Marion Men Among Group Ill After Canton Luncheon.

Two former Marion men are among 33 persons stricken with food poisoning, 20 of whom are confined to Canton, O., hospitals following a luncheon at the exclusive Canton club yesterday. The Associated Press reported. Thirteen were treated at their homes. Those hospitalized were described by hospital officials as "violently ill."

The former Marion men are Dwight L. Buchanan, 40, former city editor of The Star and now an official of the Hercules Motor Corp. in Canton, and Charles Schoenlaub, 36, of Cleveland, an official of the Republic Steel Corp. now serving with the war labor board as assistant to W. L. Bait, vice chairman of WPB with offices in Washington.

After leaving Marion 15 years ago Mr. Buchanan joined the staff of the Canton Repository. While here he was married to Miss Mildred McAfee, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. T. H. McAfee. Dr. McAfee was pastor of the Trinity Baptist church.

Mr. Schoenlaub is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Schoenlaub. His wife is the former Miss Louise Burgin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burgin of 604 Windsor street. Mrs. Schoenlaub and daughter are spending the summer with her parents in Marion. Mr. Schoenlaub was loaned to WPB by the Republic Steel Corp. several months ago.

Among those taken ill were several Army, Navy and high war production board officials in Canton for an inspection of war plants in the Canton area. The luncheon yesterday was arranged by the Hercules Motor Corp. in connection with the tour.

F. M. Sayre, Canton city health commissioner, reported that the poisoning cases had been traced to Boston cream pie served at the luncheon. James A. Finley, manager of the Canton club, said all those taken ill had eaten servings of the pie which he said was prepared yesterday morning in the club kitchen under the direction of the club chef and nine assistants.

Others in Hospital

Among those hospitalized were: Lieut. Commander Thomas Matthews, 49, Navy officer in charge of WPB control materials, Washington.

Major Alexander Dickie, 37, Army officer in charge of WPB control materials, Washington.

William Passano, 41, deputy chief of WPB scheduling unit, Washington.

Howard Porter, 47, Cleveland regional manager of WPB production and facilities division, Lakewood, O.

R. L. Vaniman, 53, chief of WPB automotive division, Washington.

Irving White, 49, assistant director of the Canton WPB automotive division.

E. O. Kueneig, manager of the Canton WPB office.

E. C. Clark, General Motors Corp. representative, Detroit.

War Summary

ENGLAND—15 German night raiders drop thousands of incendiaries in hour-long attack on Hull (Pop. 250,000), many killed as fires still rage.

MEDITERRANEAN—Rome says Italian planes bomb British airbase at Latakia, Syria, where British troops reported massing.

INVASION JITTERS—German broadcast reports Italian evacuation of Castelrosso in Dodecanese islands, Greece. Ankara reports that "the allies may start operations against the Dodecanese from Syria." Balkan sources declare 75 axis divisions now massed in Aegean isles, Crete, Greece and Yugoslavia to combat allied invasion.

SIXTH RAID ON LA SPEZIA—The Lancaster's extraordinary raid on La Spezia, which has a population of 100,000 and a number of ship and repair depots was the sixth since the war began.

RUSSIA—Red armies attack German defense lines west of Nazi-held Belgorod on Kharkov front, Moscow speculates on possible recapture of town.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC—U. S. Liberators fly 2,000 miles round-trip to blast Japanese base at Maccassar, Dutch Celebes; raiders hit enemy cruiser, set fires visible 70 miles with 38-ton deluge of bombs; Australian troops bloody repulse third straight Japanese attack in New Guinea jungles.

JAPAN—Tokyo broadcast says Japan expects allies to open new Burma offensive in October, predicts new bombing attacks on Japanese cities from bases in China and the Aleutians.

U. S. BOMBERS SMASH AT JAPS IN CELEBES

Large Force of Planes Make 2,000-Mile Flight.

American bombers flying 2,000 miles round-trip were officially credited today with scoring a direct hit on a cruiser and setting fires visible 70 miles in an attack on the Japanese base at Maccassar, Dutch Celebes.

Thirty-eight tons of bombs were dropped.

Striking in daylight, on the longest flight yet undertaken from bases in Australia, U. S. Liberators pounded the enemy stronghold in great force and returned with the loss of one bomber. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced.

The lone victim went down when a Japanese fighter crashed into its wing. The two fell together.

On the land front, Australian jungle fighters bloody repulse a third straight Japanese attempt to break through their lines in the Mubo sector, 12 miles from the big enemy base at Salamaua, New Guinea, and killed or wounded 64 Japanese for a two-day toll of 164.

Meanwhile, a Tokyo broadcast predicted that the allies would launch an offensive to recapture Burma in October — once the Monsoon rains have ended — and warned the Japanese that new allied bombing raids on Japan could be expected.

Apparently fishing for information, the broadcast also declared that the allied victory in North Africa had released British fleet units to join American naval power in the Pacific.

FAT SALVAGE INCREASES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Ohio housewives' contribution of waste fats for war use reached a new high during May but was still more than 50 per cent short of the state's quota, Robert O. Weible, state secretary for WPB salvage, announced today.

England-Africa Shuttle Bombers Hit Ruhr, Italy

Big Planes Make First Round-Trip, Double-Barreled Attack; La Spezia Their Italian Target.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 24—A new technique of air bombardment was demonstrated dramatically today by several squadrons of RAF Lancasters which early today completed a shuttle round-trip mission to Africa, bombing a German target on the way down and an Italian port on the return home without loss of a plane.

The air ministry disclosed the aircraft which devastated three acres of the old Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen Sunday night continued to a North African base and returned home last night by way of La Spezia, blasting the naval base at the latter port.

This shuttle technique never was used before on a large scale at long range.

The attack on La Spezia was but one of three or more newly reported aerial blows against Italy and her guardian islands.

Bombers of the Northwest African air forces made a first-setting raid Tuesday night on the northeast Sardinian port of Olbia, a communiqué from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said. Heavy RAF bombers of the Middle East command generated two violent explosions and a number of fires in an attack on the airbase at Olbia, Sicily, it was announced in Cairo.

In addition, the Italian high command communiqué, broadcast from Rome said allied planes attacked the Sicilian towns of Porto Empedocle and Catania. The Catania raid was reported to have caused 119 casualties and wrecked many civilian buildings.

STIMSON SAYS NAZIS SHIFTING

Into France and Italy, War Secretary Reports.

WASHINGTON, June 24—Indications that Germany is moving huge forces into France and Italy in preparation to fight off an invasion were reported today by Secretary of War Stimson.

He asserted also that "an extraordinary lull" in ground fighting on the Russian front has occurred although the weather has been highly suitable for military operations.

There are indications, Stimson told a press conference that "the Germans are materially strengthening their forces in France." He added that reinforcements are understood to be moving in "for the Poles in Italy."

Stimson estimated that from 10 to 12 German divisions have been moved into France and several to Italy.

"They may or may not have been withdrawn from the Russian front," he said. "And they may have been reserves from central Germany."

He also reported that bombing raids over Europe in which large forces of Nazi fighter planes have engaged American and English bombers indicated a concentration of air fighter strength in western Europe.

Stimson continued that reports showed that Germany is concentrating "large numbers of fighter planes for protection of military and industrial areas on the home front. Probably many were withdrawn from the eastern front which may be one reason for the lull in operations there."

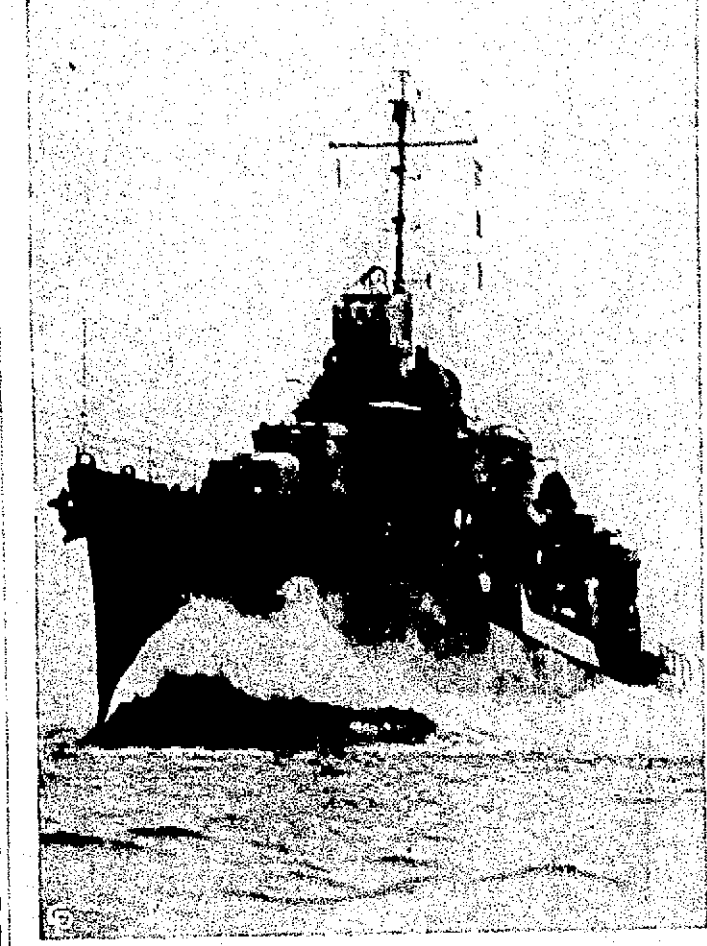

Official air sources declined to speculate on whether the successful trial trips across Europe could be accepted as a pattern for the future.

Plan Used by Doolittle

Maj. Gen. James Doolittle's attack on Tokyo was a partial application of the principle in that the U. S. bombers took off from a carrier and landed in China.

The RAF feat aroused speculation as to whether the U. S. air forces might stage similar raids. The range of the Flying Fortresses and Liberators would make such runs possible at least across France and North Italy.

Officially described only as "several squadrons" — which means at least several dozen

ICKES CALLS 29 OWNERS TO MEET FRIDAY

Fuels Administrator Says He Expects To Operate Mines for Considerable Time.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—Secretary Ickes moved today to undertake active charge of the management of coal mines and indicated he expected to continue operating them for the government "for a considerable period of time."

Ikiterro Ickes has maintained only nominal control of the mines he took over at the President's direction May 1, but calling 29 major mine owners to meet with him here tomorrow, he said:

"Developments in the controversy between the mine workers and the operators which is under the jurisdiction of the war labor board indicate that the government will be compelled to continue custody and operation of the mines for a considerable period of time."

"I still hope that the controversy will be speedily settled so that private operation of the mines may be resumed under conditions which will not involve danger of interruption of production."

"But in the present circumstances it is essential to protect the government's interest in the operation of the mines that I undertake active participation in the supervision of management and operation of the mines."

Doesn't Want Substitutes

In the telegrams conveying that message to the 29 mine owners, including presidents of several steel companies, Ickes said also that he wished to deal with these men as principals and that he did not expect them to send "brokers, substitutes or representatives."

The government mine boss told a press conference that as a result of mine strikes in the last seven weeks it might be necessary to set up some sort of rationing or allocation system to assure fair distribution of coal.

Ickes said such steps might have to be undertaken, "particularly in some sections," because coal production had fallen "seriously behind" the rate required to attain the goal of 600,000,000 tons of soft coal and 45,000,000 tons of hard coal which he said is necessary in wartime.

Stockpiles were down, greatly, Ickes said, adding it would be impossible to build them back to proper levels unless production is kept flowing at a steady pace.

Said No Deadline Mentioned

Ickes said that he had asked John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, to return his union members to work without setting any deadline for stopping work in the absence of some new labor agreement.

When a reporter asked whether Lewis had "pointed a pistol at the head of the government" in setting Oct. 31 as such a deadline, Ickes replied, "Maybe he is pointing a pistol at my head."

Lewis had not mentioned a deadline during their talks this week before the strikers were told by Lewis to go back to work.

(From Pittsburgh cable reports, however, that thousands of the nation's half-million miners had returned to work despite orders from the UMW.)

The length of time he operates the mines for, the government, Ickes said, will depend on how long it will be before there is an agreement settling the wage dispute between the UMW and the operators.

Asked whether he had any reason to believe there are prospects for such an agreement, Ickes replied:

"I think with complete good will on both sides this controversy could be settled."

Cool To Striker Draft Plan

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt's proposal to meet any new coal strike with a draft into military service today was viewed as an inadequate substitute for the anti-strike bill, which many lawmakers now expect him to veto.

Some quarters interpreted this to mean strikers would be put into uniform, and under Army discipline returned to their coal digging jobs at a private pay of $50 a month. Chairman William H. Davis of the war labor board has estimated their present pay

BRITISH PLANES HIT SICILY AND SARDINIA

Airfields and Docks Blasted; Italians Attack Steamer.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 24—British heavy bombers from the middle east command swept across the Mediterranean to attack the enemy airbase at Comiso in Sicily on Tuesday night while Wellingtons from northern African bases blasted Olbia in northern Sardinia.

Communications today said the heavy bombers caused two violent explosions and set two large and a number of smaller fires at the Olbia airfield and the Wellingtons left several fires burning at Olbia docks.

The bulk of the American air force remained idle yesterday.

The Italian high command declared in a Rome broadcast command that Italian torpedo boats had sunk a 15,000-ton steamer and damaged a 7,000-ton steamer off the Algerian coast while bombers raided Egyptian communication lines at Puka and a large airbase at Latakia with good results.

20 TONS OF BOMBS HIT JAP BASE IN SOLOMONS

Aerial Pressure Against Enemy Continues in Pacific.

By The Associated Press

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, June 24—Dauntless bombers today unloaded 20 tons of bombs on Rikata Bay, Japanese seaplane base and submarine fueling station on Santa Isabel island in the Solomons, yesterday morning.

Southern Pacific force headquarters reported today that several bomb hits were scored and one fire was started. Wildcat fighter planes escorted the bombers.

Maintaining steady aerial pressure against enemy bases in the Solomons, U. S. air forces delivered another bombing stroke Wednesday on Bur Village, a new enemy outpost on Gannonga Island. Army Mitchell medium bombers were escorted on this raid by Navy Corsair fighters. One Mitchell failed to return.

Some quarters interpreted this to mean strikers would be put into uniform, and under Army discipline returned to their coal digging jobs at a private pay of $50 a month. Chairman William H. Davis of the war labor board has estimated their present pay

DAVIS EXPECTED TO STAY AS FOOD CHIEF

Request for More Power Not Believed Threat To Quit.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 24—Don't expect C. Davis out as war administrator unless and until he has actually turned in his resignation to President Roosevelt.

That's the reply of D. C. Speaker, unofficial but informed capital news source, to reports that Davis has told the White House he will quit unless given more power over food policies.
Familiar with authority rows in both peace and war, Speaker said he'd wager that the White House is trying now to work out a satisfactory arrangement with Davis—because of Davis' general knowledge of food and farm problems and the support he has among farmers and the food industry.
The principal demand voiced by Davis is for greater control over farm and food price policies, said Speaker, the mythical District of Columbia observer who represents authentic but unquotable sources.
"However," he added, "literally speaking, Davis has made no threats to quit. He doesn't operate that way. He's the type who uses the gun only once."
What he has done is this: He has outlined to the White House the powers he thinks his agency must have if it is to do the job under his leadership. It is up to the White House to decide what will be done about it.
Speaker said it was a pretty good bet that the situation would be worked out so that Davis could continue as food chief.

Ohio Legislature Near End of Long Session

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 24 — The Ohio legislature today completes one of the longest regular sessions in years, sending the last 12 of 224 bills to Gov. John W. Bricker.
Although few members of either house are expected to attend the session, presiding officers will sign the pending measures, including the biennial appropriation and sundry claims bills.

LUTHERANS ELECT OHIOANS

TYRONE, Pa., June 24 — Two Ohioans were elected to office by the eastern district convention of the American Lutheran Church at nearby Birmingham. Dr. O. C. Mees of Canton as a vice president and the Rev. J. P. Sinner of Girard as chaplain.

Ohioans Helped Keep Guadalcanal 'Burma Rd.' Open

The following story was written by The Associated Press for the United States Navy and is reprinted by permission of The Associated Press.
SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, June 1—(Delayed)—Master Technical Sergeant Joseph J. Babyak, 25, of Campbell, O., Sgt. Lawrence R. Bell, U. S. M. C., 20, of Toledo, and Cpl. Robert L. Beene, U. S. M. C., 19, of Granville, have been complimented by their commanding officer for "outstanding heroism" in helping to keep open an aerial "Burma road" to Henderson Field during the Solomon Islands campaign.
Babyak and Bell served as flight mechanics of naval transport aircraft operating in the Solomon Islands area. Beene served as radio operator on Navy cargo transport planes. The saga enacted by their squadrons has been officially described by Admiral Halsey as "an example of courage and skill."
Colonel P. K. Smith, their Marine aircraft group commander at this South Pacific base, said during the period from September to November 1942 Babyak and Bell made repeated trips in Navy cargo transport planes loaded with bombs, gasoline and high explosives, helped to unload them on Henderson Field runways under fire, and then took off with loads of wounded Marines destined for base hospitals. Beene was credited with seven flights in the Solomon Islands area.

Former Marion Man Stricken in Montreal
Carl T. Mead, 48, formerly of Marion, died Monday in Montreal following a short illness. He was born in Marion on Dec. 20, 1893, and married Miss Jennie in Columbus recently. The Associated Press reported today. A layman of the Mt. Gilead Universalist church, he is a retired city letter carrier and member of the local board. He was killed by Rev. A. J. Spanton of Leroy.

Study of Factors, Pa. who survives.
Mr. Mead served on many railroads in the United States as a locomotive engineer prior to his appointment as letter carrier. He was a member of the American Railway Union and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.
Brief services were held in Montreal yesterday and services will be held in Erie, Pa. at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church. The Rev. Father O'Connell will officiate at the services. Burial will be in St. Charles cemetery.

HOW AMERICA BOMBS THE AXIS

Tricks Above Tree-Tops of Tokyo

Associated Press Features.

RAF BOMBARDIER SCHOOL. MIDLAND, Texas. — When the new dispatch says, "Railroad tracks, airfields and supply depots were attacked in daylight today," it means the medium and heavy bombers have been putting on a show.

For these chores the light and medium bombers use tactics often different from those of the big bombers, who like to drop their payloads from altitudes of five to seven miles. The smaller planes might pull anything.

Plying low over hills and forests, they offer no targets for anti-aircraft guns. Fighter planes can attack them only from above. A pursuit pilot who tried to follow on the tail of a low-flying bomber would soon pile into some obstruction over which his quarry barely skims.

Low-flying bombers approach their objectives usually with machine guns or cannon blazing at the ground. If they are hitting troop concentrations, airfields or supply columns they will drop clusters of small fragmentation bombs. Incendiary bombs might be used against airfields or buildings. Railroads, bridges, tank concentrations or buildings might be hit with demolition bombs.

Shops and docks might be attacked by light or medium bombers if the defenses are not too strong.

To increase accuracy of the attack, the "Tokyo approach" might be used. In Gen. James H. Doolittle's raid on Tokyo a year ago, the planes flew at house-top level until near the target, then rose to 1,500 feet, where increased visibility allowed them to bomb accurately.

The enemy's surprise was so great that he could not get his anti-aircraft into use against the Americans, who were at an altitude that would have been suicidal if there had been any warning of the raid.

(Tomorrow: Planes lead the ground forces.)

Radar Great Tactical Development in Warfare

Adm. A. H. Van Kester, left, is chief of the Naval Research Laboratory where studies of Radar continue. He succeeded Rear Adm. H. G. Bowen, center, who began to promote the laboratory's work 13 years ago. R. M. Page, right, chief of a research section in the laboratory's radio division is credited by colleagues with doing more for Radar's technical progress in the United States than any other man on the staff.

Small Group of Naval Scientists Largely Responsible for Its Development in Spite of Difficulties.

The basic principle of Radar, the "radio" of the armed forces, was discovered in 1922 by Dr. Albert H. Taylor of the Naval Research Laboratory. He realized that radio waves were reflected by objects in the air, and that this reflection could be used to detect the presence of an object.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Copyright, 1943, by The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 23—At that time—June, 1930—the developers of Radar realized that their discoveries had gone far beyond original expectations.

Here was a method which sharply limited the airplane's then unchecked ability to attack with surprise and demoralize defenses before they got into action.

Here was one of the greatest tactical advances in warfare since the original evolution of the military uses of aircraft.

There followed several months of intensive experiments with aircraft detection. Various radio frequencies were tried out. Dr. Albert H. Taylor and his associates, including Carlos B. Mirick, who then directed the naval research laboratory's aircraft radio section, spent weeks bouncing waves off planes around the naval air station and along the Mount Vernon boulevard on the Virginia side of the Potomac.

Mirick's job was to keep a photographic record of the experiments, which he did with outstanding success, Taylor said.

Even the dirigible Akron, which happened to be in the vicinity, was subjected to a few wave bombardments just to make sure that airships as well as planes could be picked up.

Radio Waves Used First

All this work was carried on with regular radio waves, rather than with the pulses used in measuring the world's electric roof, about 150 miles up. These waves required comparatively clumsy apparatus, including two widely separated antennae—one for sending, the other for receiving.

This bothered Taylor considerably, for he was a naval scientist seeking to develop a machine compact and simple enough to install on a ship without cluttering it up and antagonizing the officers.

The apparatus was entirely effective, however, and not too clumsy for use on land. At one time Taylor worked out a complete defense system for the city of Washington using the detection equipment then developed. So information about the experiments and their possibilities in defense of the country against air attack was turned over to the Army in 1932.

Army research, like that of the Navy, was then slaved for funds, and no vigorous progress along the lines suggested by Taylor was made before 1935.

The research and development then undertaken by the Army signal corps eventually led to the system of Radar protection set up around the coastal frontiers of the United States to detect the presence of aircraft while they still are many miles from land.

This left unsolved the problem of what to do about protecting the Navy's ships against air attack. For a time the best brains of the research laboratory were baffled. That is, whenever they got a few quick minutes to think about the problem. For radio detection was then but one, and by official standards a minor one, of NRL's projects.

Pulses Provide Answer

One day Leo C. Young an associate of Taylor's strolled into Taylor's office with a hopeful gleam in his eyes.

"Remember the Kennelly-Heaviside experiments?" he asked. "Why don't we do this thing with pulses?"

"Well," Taylor replied, "it's a long way up there to the ionosphere. That gives you a long time interval between emission of the pulse and its reception, which is probably why the pulse worked so well in those experiments. I doubt whether it would work on shipboard, considering the compass apparatus and the short distances we must work with there."

But Taylor never was a man to reject an idea simply because he disagreed with it. He told Young to begin work on the pulse principle.

Young started a new line of research and worked more or less alone for three or four months. His problem was typical of all those encountered, before and after, in Radar development. The scientists were always reaching out for the unknown and the untried; a new electrical gadget, a different coil, or sparkgap or vacuum tube, might be the missing link needed to bring weeks of brain-racking labor to fruition.

By this time a number of individual Navy officers, including Harold G. Bowen, then a captain, were much interested in the plane detection work. To understand the intensity of their interest it is only necessary to recall that for 10 years, General William Mitchell, the prophet of air power, had been preaching the doom of the warship.

During those 10 years the commercially valuable airplane had made enormous technical progress; shipboard anti-aircraft defense, seemingly with no conceivable commercial uses, had not.

Busy with civilian goods, private research agencies were not interested in solving problems in preparation for some distant dreamed-of war if there wasn't a predictable percentage of profit in a project through public experimentation and funds. Young in the laboratory worked almost day and night to discover and prove a principle for the pulse system of plane detection. He was convinced that only with pulses would a workable system ever be realized.

"After three or four months, during which Young was more or less alone," Taylor says, "I told him we had to have some help. And that's when I threw Mr. Page in. Not long after he got on the job he did so well that we gave him an assistant, and he carried on."

"Page has made more contribution to modern Radar than any other man."

While Taylor, Young, Gebhard and most of the others at the laboratory were veterans, Robert M. Page was a youngster, but a brilliant worker, passionately devoted to physics. He had gone directly to NRL from Hamline University, St. Paul, Minn., in 1927. Jens M. Ryngaard, physicist and personal friend of Taylor's at Hamline, had given Page such a glowing recommendation that when a new man was needed, he was chosen.

Despite his extraordinary record in physics, Page had not always been interested in that work. Hamline was a sectarian college and he had first gone there to become a Methodist minister. The jump to physics, which he explains as due to "my natural tendencies," is not so odd as it might seem since he gives to his work the same burning inner enthusiasm with which he might have embarked upon a ministerial career.

Outwardly he is a quiet, shy man distinguished in appearance by a slight professional stoop, a tuft of chin whiskers and neat, grayish hair topping a still-youthful face. He is in sharp contrast to Taylor, who is a man of rugged qualities and easy, colorful flow of language.

During 1934 Taylor gave Page the Radar job as a full time assignment and later detailed to him, as an assistant, a young physicist from the University of Montana who had been at NRL since 1929.

Young, alert, affable in an easy, square-cut manner, Robert C. Guthrie was a natural working mate for Page. The two men have been closely and profitably associated for a decade.

The advent on the Radar scene marked the passing of the main Radar development into the hands of a new generation.

This fact serves as a checking point for what had happened in radio development outside the Naval Research Laboratory by that time, and it is interesting to note that while great strides had been made in such potentially commercial fields as television, there was but little that contributed directly to work on Radar. This instrument in America was basically developed from start to finish by the scientists on the Potomac.

"Ham's" Contribution

One type of equipment for which they had gone to the outside world all along, and continued to go, was the vacuum tube. Early in the game they tried out a variety of tubes and found that only two were suitable for their work. Both of those were made in England and the credit for their invention went to British scientists.

"A ham," said Taylor, "was a real and set a new 278

Report Gets Results

The advent of the Navy department is a not even to be ignored in the history of the development of Radar. This time Taylor got results.

For 10 years he had taken funds from other research projects and obeyed orders to divert physicists from work the Navy thought more important. In all that time he and his loyal associates, like more following a vision, never had become really disheartened, never had decided to throw down their tools in disgust and wait until the Navy and the nation got ready to help them.

Always, whenever a moment could be spared or stolen, they worked on radio detection.

The engineering bureau's radio division studied Taylor's report, which contained the first formal statement of airplane detection work, for two months, then officially assigned the laboratory this problem.

"Investigate the use of radio to detect the presence of enemy vessels and aircraft. Special emphasis is placed on the confidential nature of this problem."

The emphasis on confidence by those whose responsibility it was to handle security was a bit belated. Publication of the articles on Kennelly-Heaviside measurements had given our future allies, the British—and it must be assumed our future enemies as well—the tip-off on radio detection.

Had the ban been placed when Taylor first proposed his destroyer experiments in 1922, the secret might have been kept from the Germans and Japanese—and could have been given to the British as many other secret devices, including our bombsights, were given. The belated secrecy order did serve to keep confidential from January, 1931, until April, 1943, the main facts and technical progress of Radar.

Bureaus Get Interested

Following the order, other Navy bureaus were informed of the work in progress, and some got busy with ideas for practical application. In October, 1931, Bowen sent along to the laboratory a number of these ideas and suggestions for possible experiments.

Taylor and his men had so far anticipated Radar's potentialities that he was able to reply immediately that all the proposals had previously been studied and found to be practical and possible. He urged intensification of research.

Detroit Pushes Drive To Trace and Punish Riot Offenders

Meanwhile, Toll Increases to 31 in 2-Day Outbreak;
 3,800 Soldiers Still Police City.

By The Associated Press
 DETROIT, June 24—Those who did the killing and looting in Detroit's race riots were hunted relentlessly today as the death toll climbed to 31.

Two white men injured in Monday's rioting died in hospitals last night.

After a night marked by only minor disturbances, law enforcement agencies took measures to make sure that every person, white or Negro, would be punished in proportion to the part he took in the rioting which began Sunday night and raged through Monday. More than 700 persons were injured.

With the city guarded by 3,800
 soldiers, last night passed quietly.
 Troops had to be called, however,
 to stand by while the senior class of Northwestern High school was graduated. A restless crowd of youths had gathered outside the school as the seniors, including 29
 Negroes, received their diplomas.

"Under Control"
 "We have the situation under control," Gov. Harry F. Kelly announced. "Our next step is to find out who the guilty ones are,
 to punish them and see that things of this kind do not happen again in the state of Michigan."

Toward that end he appointed a committee to investigate underlying causes of the riot.

In Washington, Chairman Dies
 (D-Tex) of the house committee investigating un-American activities said his group had uncovered evidence that Japanese agents, working through established organizations, had promoted racial prejudice in this area presumably to interfere with war production and break down home front morale.

Dies said that committee hearings starting next week will be broadened to inquire into the matter of racial disturbances.

More than 1,300 persons were arrested during the rioting.

City Agencies Busy City agencies undertook the task of relieving victims of the riot and helping to repair property. It was estimated 150 stores were destroyed in the Negro district. Nineteen smashed and burned automobiles were piled in a city lot.

Relief agencies opened four stations to deal with problems of missing persons, burials, shelter, child care.

A 10 o'clock curfew was enforced again last night, public assembly was restricted and the sale of intoxicating beverages was for-bidden. Gov. Kelly stated restrictions would be lifted gradually.

War plants, where Detroit's huge production was seriously slowed by absenteeism, approached normal operations today.

OHIO CONGRESSMAN HITS FOOD PROGRAM

Cong. Jenkins Says Muddling Has Threatened Supply.

By The Associated Press
 WASHINGTON, June 24—Representative Jenkins (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican congressional food study committee, said today "the bread supply of the entire nation is threatened because of the administration's muddled and ineffective food policies."

Asserting there is a critical corn shortage, he added in a statement that thousands of bakeries and other industries using the grain, including plants engaged in war production, will be compelled to close unless office of price administration ceilings on corn are revised immediately.

Jenkins' statement came just before the house agriculture committee met to consider legislation to put all war time food controls in the hands of one person.

President Roosevelt has turned down suggestions by two bi-partisan congressional delegations that power over food production, transportation, distribution and rationing be so concentrated.

House farm bloc leaders have expressed a desire that the complete powers be placed with Chester C. Davis, war food administrator, who does not now have supervision over rationing, which is done by OPA.

Of the corn situation, Jenkins said:

"Because of government muddling and its complete lack of effective food policies we are today threatened with the worst corn situation in history. Farmers in the corn belt find it more profitable to feed their corn to hogs than to dispose of it through normal channels of trade. The OPA has placed a ceiling price of $1.07 on corn and the department of agriculture a floor price of $1.73 on hogs. With such a disparity in value for hog feeding and refining purposes, it is easy to see why the farmer withholds his corn from the market. He receives 35 of 40 cents a bushel more by selling it as pork."

38 Rabbits Killed As Fire Damages Shed

A bonfire in the yard set fire to rubbish at the end of a shed at the home of Henry Schuler Jr., at 353 Mary street yesterday at 2:14
 p. m. All but two of 40 rabbits housed in the shed died, and one end of the shed was burned. Chief T. J. McFarland estimated damage to be $50. The west side and Mark street companies answered the alarm.

A fire in a workshop belonging to W. H. Schroll of 171 St. Clair street resulted in a $10 loss at 8:58
 p. m. yesterday. Chief T. J. Mc-Farland reported. The workshop is located in the back of Mr.
 Schroll's home. The cause of the fire was undetermined, and the chief's car from Central station answered the alarm.

 tal, Columbus yesterday morning after an illness of a year. He had been in the hospital six months.
 Born April 5, 1866 in Essex, Union county, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Harper. He married Miss Mabel Hull who died May 23, 1942. A resident of Marion county nearly all his life, he was a member of Greenwood Evangelical church here.

Surviving are the following children: Raymond Harper of Seattle, Wash.; Woodrow Harper of Barboursville, O.; Francis J. Harper of Chicago, Ill.; and Clayton Harper Jr., who is in the U. S.

 Navy stationed in Florida. Two grandchildren and a sister, Mrs.
 Sarah Bower of 268 Patterson street.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Ave funeral home with Rev. R. L.
 Sutherland of Greenwood Evangelical church in charge. Burial will be made in Forest Glen Memorial park. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

Before wearing rayon stockings, wash them. Soak in warm water, with a handful of evemint salts added. This will strengthen them. Also use evemint salts or vinegar in the rinse after each washing.

THE PENNEY WAY IS THE THRIFTY WAY ... THE THRIFTY WAY IS THE AMERICAN WAY

British Monarch Visits Malta, Most Bomed Spot on Earth

King's Party Greeted with Cheers on Tour of Bases in Mediterranean.

By HELMAN MORIN
Representing the combined American press

WITH THE KING'S PARTY IN NORTH AFRICA—(Continued)—The king of England has been visiting the ruins of the vanished Italian empire in and around the Mediterranean.

He has even visited Malta, the tiny British-held island, within sight of Italy itself and barely 15 minutes from the nearest enemy air base.

At lunch one day the king dined from captured Italian dishes, used Italian cutlery, smoked fancy Italian cigarettes, and even passed his hands in a most intimate bungalow that formerly carried one of Mussolini's generals.

He was a guest of the famous British Eighth Army that day.

Confers Honors

After lunch he conferred the accolade on Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the Eighth Army, and Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, commander in chief in the middle east, both of whom had been knighted by proxy and without the ancient ceremony that comprises it.

In the desert outside of Tripoli shortly afterward, the king pinned the Victoria cross, Britain's highest military award, on the breast of a little Gurkha sergeant, who was the first Indian to receive it during this war.

The sergeant decapitated 57 Germans in one night during the fighting at Mareth, personally clearing out a strongly held position.

The king said, "It was an unbelievably brave act."

After inspecting a small portion of the Eighth army, the king sailed for Malta, arriving early the next morning.

Throughout the day the king toured the island, looking with horrified eyes at the broken little towns on the "most bombed spot on earth."

Malta Mass of Rubble

By comparison with Malta, even London looks as though it had endured nothing worse than a couple of showers of bird shot. Standing amid the rubble in the dock area where the destruction was the heaviest, the king spoke with a simple parish priest, Emmanuel Brincat, who told him: "Whatever we have endured, or may be called upon to endure again, has been compensated for by your majesty's visit."

Judging from the frantic joy of the people, the priest's statement was no exaggeration.

SHUTTLE

a big fleet of bombers hit the naval base there.

England Heavily Bombed

During the night, German raiders made their heaviest attack in weeks against an English objective.

It was announced that 15 enemy planes pounded the port city of Hull in an attack lasting more than an hour, destroying a museum and valuable exhibits, parts of the shopping center, and residential property.

Thousands of incendiaries set fires which were not brought under control until after dawn.

The casualty toll still was climbing early today with rescue squads digging out bodies of those buried in the wreckage of their homes.

The Berlin radio said that allied planes also were over Germany during the night, asserting that a few "made nuisance raids" in the western sector.

A western German broadcast of a DNB dispatch asserted a formation of British planes attacked a German convoy off Flushing, Holland, from a low level this morning. The report was not immediately confirmed by the British.

Don't store your bed and table linen too long. If you have a number of tablecloths, use them in rotation and do the same with your sheets and pillow cases and they will keep their color better and last longer.

Homecoming Is Held

at Kirkpatrick Church

KIRKPATRICK—A large number of people were present at the homecoming service at the Methodist church, Rev. Donald Warr of New York was the speaker at the service. Rev. Warr is Mr. and Mrs. R. Warr. Music was furnished by the choir and a solo was sung by Dobbins accompanied by the organ.

Ray George who resides at the George home north of Marion, is confined to his home with a sprained ankle.

ELECTED—Pilot of big U. S. Army Air Force plane at Camp Parks, Calif., had an election of their own recently and chose Helen O'Connell (above), blonde singer, as their "Bomba dear."

mileage to drive on my vacation? A. Definitely not; to use it for a non-occupational purpose such as a vacation would constitute a violation of the regulations.

Q. The shoes I bought are not satisfactory. I took them back to the store and they would not give me another pair without a new stamp. What do I do?

A. With the store's approval of the exchange, no stamp is required. If the shoes are worn so that they cannot be resold as new, another stamp is required. If the shoes are returned within 30 days from purchase and are defective and the dealer accepts the return, he should give you a statement which you can take to your local war price and rationing board for a special shoe stamp.

Two Ohio Soldiers Die in Jap Prison Camp

Two Ohio soldiers were reported by the war department today to have died while in Japanese prison camps. They are Staff Sergeant Charles J. Jaskens of Alliance and Pvt. Robert E. Silverwood of Port Clinton.

One Marion boy was included in the list of additional soldiers who are interned as prisoners of war by Italy. He is Pvt. Owen E. Hogan, son of Mrs. Mary Hogan of 561 North Main street. Pvt. Hogan was first reported to be a prisoner in April after a previous report had been received listing him as missing in action.

Others from Ohio who were listed as Italian prisoners are: Pvt. Robert Carpenter of Circleville; Cpl. James W. Carr of Newcomerstown; Sgt. Merle G. Omeroy of Portsmouth; Pfc. Frederick Smith of Springfield and Pvt. Donald R. Talbot of Salineville.

Ration Questions Answered

Q. I was unable to apply for my number 8 ration book before the deadline, June 10. What must I do now to obtain one?

A. The book will not be put into use until September or perhaps October. After Aug. 1 you can apply at your local board for an application.

Q. If meat that I have purchased proves unfit for use, what recourse do I have? Do I lose the red ration points used to purchase this meat?

A. No. If within a reasonable length of time, dealers will exchange meat unfit for consumption for a rationed product of the same point value.

Q. I am trading in my present car, which is a 1936 model, on a 1940 model. What happens to the tire inspection record for my 1936 car, and how do I obtain a tire inspection record for the 1940 car?

A. The tire inspection record always follows the car in case of a transfer. In other words, the tire inspection record for your 1936 car will remain with that car and the person who purchases it from you (whether he is a dealer or a private individual) must have that tire inspection record. Similarly, it is the responsibility of the dealer or the individual who sells you your 1940 car to furnish the tire inspection record which has been issued to the car.

Q. I have only an "A" book and have no occupational needs for my car. May I use my mileage to take a trip into Pennsylvania?

A. You may not use a basic ration in the state of Pennsylvania at present for a non-essential, non-occupational trip. The state of Pennsylvania is included in the critical gasoline shortage area and basic mileage may not be used there for such purposes as vacation trips and other non-essential purposes.

Q. I have a "C" book allowing me 700 miles per month to drive from home to work. My company is granting me a two-weeks vacation in July. Since I will not need mileage during those two weeks to drive to work, may I use that same amount of

FREE COFFEE OFFER TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE

"This Card Good for—" But That Was Before War.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 24—A pre-war coffee service advertisement offering a free pound of coffee, brought short-lived joy to a Cleveland neighborhood today. Three youths, make-believe bill posters, introduced the two-year-old card, which read, "Please present this card to the girl in the coffee department of any () super market in greater Cleveland and receive promptly free one pound of coffee with the complement of () super market. This is a () super market 'near your home'."

The super market mentioned on the card told inquiring residents it knew nothing of the offer and that a gift of coffee would be illegal under rationing laws.

Then the mother of seven-year-old Jack Van Allen cleared the mystery. Two years ago she had been manager of Cleveland's branch of the Bridal Shower Co., which discontinued business when the United States entered the war. The cards were an old offer of the company and part of its advertising service that the super market was using at that time. Jack found the stack of cards in the attic of his home, couldn't read them but thought them fine playthings. He suggested being "bill posters" but left his playmates to complete distribution.

OPA Asks Housewives To Spread Out Red Stamps

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—The office of price administration today asked housewives to "spread out" the use of their K, L, M, and N red stamps, which expire next Wednesday, in order to avoid a last minute rush at retail stores. Pointing out there is nothing to be gained in waiting until the last few days to use these red stamps, OPA said that housewives shopping well ahead of the expiration deadline will find stores less crowded and a greater variety of meats, fats, oils and cheeses in the counters.

Validity dates of red stamps to be used during July will be announced soon.

Blue stamps K, L, and M used for the purchase of canned and processed foods expire July 7. Validity dates of the next series of blue stamps also will be announced soon.

Employment Offices To Streamline Procedure

CLEVELAND, O., June 24—To speed up the placement of workers urgently needed for war production and to handle an ever-increasing load without increasing local office personnel, all offices of the United States Employment Service in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky today were ordered to streamline their operations.

The new operating procedures were announced by Robert C. Goodwin, regional director of the War Manpower Commission, under which the USES operates. They are expected to cut the time required to place workers on new jobs, eliminate one-third of the paper work in USES offices and afford USES personnel more time for vital recruitment activities which have been hampered by lack of funds and personnel.

REGISTRATION SET FOR DAY NURSERY

Mothers To Sign for Care Tuesday and Wednesday.

Registrations for the day nursery for the care of children of working mothers will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at 118 North State street, it was announced today by the day nursery committee. All mothers wishing to enter their children on the opening day, July 5, should register on either of these days. Registrations will be taken Tuesday from 10 a. m. until 12 noon, and on Wednesday evening from 7:30 until 10:30 o'clock. Miss Vivian Hall will be in charge of registrations Tuesday morning and Mrs. Rudolph Schuetz on Wednesday evening. Registrations will be taken at the day nursery center when the building is ready for occupancy.

The day nursery will be available to children of mothers who are regularly employed. Each mother will register her own child or children as it will be necessary to have information regarding daily habits and schedule in order to insure adequate care. The children to be entered accompany their mother.

The day nursery will offer pleasant surroundings, capable supervision, nourishing food and a healthy routine of play and rest. The day care is being planned for children over two years of age and under school age.

Babe Ruth Sees 1944 Suspension of Big Leagues

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, June 24—Major league baseball will become a war casualty in 1944—it not sooner—in the opinion of Babe Ruth, home run king of the 20's and 30's.

"I have a hunch that baseball won't survive the current season," the former Yankee told an interviewer last night. "The life of the old sport depends on how long club owners are willing to lose money. It's a cinch they won't open the ball park gates next year."

LIQUOR ALLOTMENTS
By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Liquor director Don Fisher said today an allotment of one quart, one fifth or two pints to each holder of a ration purchase card would prevail during the June 28-July 24 period, but that zoning restrictions would be lifted.

Report Warships Leave Gibraltar, Move East
By The Associated Press
MADRID, June 23—(Delayed)—Dispatches from La Lina today reported the new British battleship Howard and four destroyers had left Gibraltar for the Mediterranean.

Some 70 merchantmen now are in Gibraltar, along with a number of warships including the battleship George V, the dispatch said. (The dispatches used the name of Howard, but it is possible the Howe was meant, there being no British battleship Howard.)

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Backache may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. They help more people pass about 2 pints a day.

If 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start causing backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of sleep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or steady passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add honey gradually and blend completely, then add well beaten eggs. Blend in melted chocolate. Sift flour once before measuring, then sift again with baking soda.

Almond Roca Frosting
¼ c. butter or margarine, ½ c. strained honey, ½ c. sugar, ½ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. cinnamon, ½ c. toasted almonds coarsely chopped.
Combine butter, honey, sugar, salt and cinnamon and cook until it boils up well. Remove from heat, beat until mixture begins to thicken (from 5 to 10 minutes) and add almonds. Beat until a thick, sticky consistency so it will cling to cake. Spread over sides and in an inch border around top edge of cake. If the Roca is eaten before you can get it on process, beat it slightly again and reprocess.

REJECT MANAGER PLAN
UPPER SANDUSKY. — Voting on the city manager plan for the second time in a little over a year, residents of nearby Carey turned thumbs down on that form of municipal government again in a special election. The vote of 161 for the plan, 232 against, represented less than one-third of the electorate, according to Clerk A. Billhardt Jr. case, beat it slightly again and of the Wyandot county board of elections.

Cong. Brown Opposes
Midwest Gas Reduction

WASHINGTON, June 23—(AP)—Rep. Brown (D-Ohio) today opposed a bill to reduce gas production in the Midwest. He said the bill would hurt the region's economy and that the government should instead focus on conservation and efficient use of existing resources.

U. S. AIRMEN IN INDIA PRAISED

Ohioans Among Forces Dealing Heavy Blows to Japs; Cited by President.

U. S. HEAVY BOMBER BASE SOMEWHERE IN INDIA, June 23—(AP)—Major General Clayton L. Bissell, Tenth Air Force commander, said today that his men recently "have made a glorious record during the months that have been fighting the Japs in Burma and Thailand. I'd stack your group against any heavy bomber group in the world any time—and be confident of the result."

The group to which he referred stems back to World War I days, when it won citations for outstanding performance in the Lorraine, St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne battles.

A few days ago, the group learned of another citation—issued in the name of the President of the United States—for outstanding performance of duty in action during the period Jan. 14 to March 1, 1942.

This year, the group has been bettering its records month by month. During the first 22 days of May, for example, the heavy bombers dropped 1,400,000 pounds of high explosives on more than 40 targets. In a single day, they poured more than 100 tons of bombs on the Japs.

Among Ohio combat crewmen responsible for this group's outstanding performance to date are:

Technical Sergeant Leo McDaniel of Washington Court House and Gordon Grimm of Washington.

Sgt. Richard Batdorf of Toledo.

Col. Edward Gorney of Akron.

Cat Called Lifesaver

by Rescued Seamen

By The Associated Press

SAN PEDRO, Calif., June 23—Mazie, a nondescript cat that has spent only 10 days ashore since the war began, was a life-saver to Eugene M. Clancy of New York, whose merchant ship was sunk.

Mazie, Clancy related yesterday, was his companion, and virtually his salvation, during 56 hours that six seamen spent on a life raft after their vessel was torpedoed in the North Atlantic last March.

"If Mazie hadn't been with us we might have gone nuts," said Clancy. "There's something about a dumb animal that takes your mind off trouble. We completely forgot our personal discomforts. We almost forgot the privilege of petting her."

Mazie took her turn at mauling matted milk tablets and condensed foods with the crewmen. Clancy added in an interview authorized by the Eleventh Naval district. She even comforted the men suffering from exposure and seasickness, going from one to another almost like a mother, he said.

MOTHER WHO HID INFANT
IN DRAWER SENTENCED

Child Secreted from Father Four Weeks.

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 24—

A mother who hid her infant in a dresser drawer for four weeks so the child's father would not know of its existence was sentenced today to serve a sentence for neglect.

She testified her husband was not aware of the birth of the fifth child until sometime after the child was born. She said she hid the child in the dresser drawer.

A stain on a slipper may have moved with alcohol. For a cleaning a soft brush and water and soap is being used.

Using Ration-Free Fresh Fruits

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Associated Press Food Editor

Summer's fresh fruits now take a prominent place in the Victory food parade on America's home front.

Homemakers, increasingly nutrition-conscious, find that fresh fruits, berries and melons provide an easy, point-saving method of adding body-strengthening vitamins to daily diets.

Fruits are versatile—they go into refreshing appetizers, salads and attractive garnishes for main dishes. In shortcakes, pies, cobblers, frozen and gelatin desserts they are unexcelled.

FRESH STRAWBERRIES or raspberries, followed by blueberries when their season peaks around, surrounded by a ring of cherries, seeded or on their stems, are berry suggestions that will make summer hits. The berries may need a few sprinklings of sugar or some honey or corn syrup for extra sweetening. And of course some folks will call for cream. A few drops of lemon juice and a dash of salt will bring out better flavor in the blueberries.

When MELONS are ripe, select small ones and fill them with fruits and berries available in the market. Cubed melons and raspberries, seeded red cherries or sliced peaches, served icy-cold, are grand for the last course of a summer meal.

Many persons feel that DEEP DISH RASPBERRY COBBLER has no equal. Here is a recipe, influenced by wartime rationing and food shortages, that still bears many of the earmarks of the original version. To serve 4 or 5, mix together 2 cups raspberries (frozen or red or some of each), 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/3 cup corn syrup, 1/4 teaspoon each of cinnamon, nutmeg, grated lemon rind and salt, 2 tablespoons margarine, melted, and 1/4 cup orange juice. Pour into a shallow, buttered baking dish. Cover with rich pastry cut into diamond or ring shapes. Bake 35 minutes in moderate oven. 3 or 4 minutes before removing, cut or tear the pastry quickly and pour sugar over the top.

For a BERRY ROLL, omit the pastry and spread the rest of the ingredients (leaved or pastry) Roll up quickly and fit into a glass baking dish. Sprinkle top with two tablespoons orange juice blended with 1 tablespoon sugar and bake 35 minutes in moderate oven. Cherries or rhubarb can be used as well as the berries. It always seems too bad to crush pungent firm strawberries and cook them when they look so attractive and taste so good served frozen in pastry cases. So I use this method for a STRAWBERRY PIE. Bake the crust in shallow pans or in one large crust. When cool, carefully slip the crust from baking pan onto a serving dish. When dough is puffed, heap up the crust with fresh berries, lightly sweetened, and only at once to the table. No flavor or color lost with these superb beauties then. Cream is served as well, depending upon personal taste.

If you want a cake case, bake sponge, angel food or layer cake in a shallow pan, remove center crumbs to form a case. The crumbs will come in handy for a later dessert. Put up the berries in the case and top with vanilla ice cream or milk sherbet. Or you may be able to whip cream that comes off milk a day old; I can, by adding a few drops of lemon juice and beating very cold. Of course, the whipped cream is not as thick as the pre-war variety, but it blends well with berries and peaches.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE: Use ice cream for garnish.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup strawberries, 1/2 cup ice cream, 1/2 cup milk. Mix flour, salt and butter. Turn out on lightly floured board, sprinkle a small amount of flour over dough and roll to 1/4 inch thick. Cut 12 rounds. Sprinkle with a little soft butter or margarine and place other 1/2 cup strawberries in a few shredded almonds. Press a few almonds into the top of each round. Set in greased buttered pie plate. Bake 15 minutes. Separate hot short cakes and put strawberries in between and on top. Garnish with ice cream and serve in the pie plate.

American Farms

Must Feed the World!

Peaceful, yes; but not complacent. American Farmers are working harder than they have ever worked before. The Armed Forces and the Civilian populations of United States and our Allies must be supplied with food in abundance.

Every man and woman in the organization of Kingan and Company is also doing his part. They are exerting every ounce of brain and brawn to process and distribute meat products of the highest quality with the least waste and in the shortest possible time.

KINGAN'S RELIABLE FINE MEAT PRODUCTS

Food rationing will assure an equal share of food for everyone. Every woman of America is helping the War Effort by making the rationing of food work to her kitchen! Every meat dealer who cooperates wholeheartedly with the food rationing program is doing his duty as a patriotic citizen.

King's Counsel Wins $600 Three-Year-Old Pace

But Mr. Voici Is Star of Fair-ground Program.

BY LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

KING'S COUNSEL, world's champion trotter as a two-year-old, a year ago, won last night's Grand Circuit three-year-old pace stake but even to his performance in any one of the three heats was completely overshadowed by a lesser-known member of the fairground outturning colony — Mr. Voici, owned by Walter Dunwoody of Newark and driven by his brother, Eddie of Mr. Vernon.

The famous pacing champion, owned in partnership by Dr. Hugh M. Parshall of Urbana and E. P. Gray of Bellows Falls, Vt., finished 2-1-1 in coping the feature event, Frisco Pat, lifetime winner of $1,178 as compared to $13,053 for King's Counsel, won the first heat after running second at the half. King's Counsel was fifth at the half but was less than two lengths off the lead pace at the finish of the first mile.

Easily the star of last night's program was not the great three-year-old pacer, but the Ohio-owned Mr. Voici. The boy won in straight heats the supplementary attraction—the 2:13 class pace. After winning the first heat in 2:08 1/2 the rangy boy won the second in 2:07. The latter mark reduces by a half second the week-old mark of 2:07 1/2 set by Neil G. Boardman's Andrew Guy. Mr. Voici's time in winning the third heat, over a nine-sixteenths of a mile course, was 1:09.

Pays $12.60

In beating out King's Counsel in the first heat of the feature event Frisco Pat paid $12.00 to each holder of a $2 ticket. This was the biggest return paid to a winner in the pari-mutuels last night.

For a time in the first heat of this event Bonnie Butler, like King's Counsel sired by the onetime Volante, appeared headed for the upset win. Driven by William H. "Doc" McMillen of London, the brown filly lead throughout the first half and well down the backstretch before giving way to both the heat winner and King's Counsel.

In the first heat as well as the second and third Dr. Parshall displayed caution in handling the great pacer. Even in winning the second and third heats the Urbana reinsman, for 13 years champion driver in the Grand Circuit, allowed King's Counsel to loaf nearly three-quarters of each mile before calling for speed. The great pacer's only remarkable times were made in the final quarters. One race official clocked him in 30 1/2 seconds in the final quarter of the second heat. After winning the third heat Parshall himself said he clocked the last half in 1:03.

While fairground rumors indicated King's Counsel might be entered in the rich free-for-all pace on Saturday night's final program Dr. Parshall said he intended to return the speedy pacer to the North Randall track near Cleveland. There King's Counsel will train over a mile track in preparation for a number of the nation's foremost stakes which will be decided in Ohio this summer.

Receives War Bond

For winning the feature event Parshall was awarded a $25 bond contributed by the National City Bank of Marion. Robert E. White, president of the institution, presented the bond to the Urbana reinsman. A beautiful red, white and blue blanket was presented to Walter Dunwoody of Newark,

Al Milnar Finally Breaks the Ice; Hurls a Winner

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 24—Al Milnar had finally caught up with his first pitching victory of the season today.

The tall southpaw received credit for the Cleveland Indians' 11th inning 9 to 5 triumph over the Detroit Tigers after the Tribe had dropped the opener of yesterday's double header 2 to 1.

Big Al was the subject of a recent "one more chance" declaration by Manager Lou Boudreau, but succeeded in doing the things his two predecessors, Vern Kennedy and Mike Nymnick, failed to accomplish—preventing the Tigers from hitting home runs.

Five of the Bengals' six tallies in the nightcap were the product of homers by Rudy York, Pinky Higgins and Dick Wakefield.

Higgins' round tripper accounted for two runs in the opening inning but the Redskins went out in front with a five-run blast against Hal White in the second. The Tribe notched another marker in the sixth but Wakefield's circuit drive in the home half matched it. The Tigers collected another tally in the seventh and moved within two runs of the Indians. York then denuded the score with a two-run homer in the eighth but Jeff Heath's third circuit blow of the year with Ken Kellner on base decided the issue in the 11th.

Hal Newhouse allowed the Tribe only five hits in the opener. Jack Salveson started for the Indians but was chased from the mound by a two-run attack in the initial frame.

Jim Bagby seeks his eighth win in tonight's twilight game which closes the series. Virgil (Fire) Trucks, Detroit's speedball twirler, is his opponent.

WORK UNDER WAY AT BOWLING ALLEYS

Prospect St. Alleys Improved; Other To Be Repaired.

Remodeling work on the Marion Recreation Center bowling alleys has been completed and Virgil Case, manager of the Palace Recreation Center, expects his remodeling plant to close for summer repairs about the middle of August. Workers spent four days last week in improving the South Prospect street lanes. All eight alleys were sanded and refinished. Each lane was given a coat of lacquer to furnish it with durability.

A leveling machine was used on all of the lanes to remove grooves and other defects.

In addition to the repairs on the alleys, the lounge and furnishings of the Marion plant were redone. All improvements have been completed and the alleys are in tip-top shape.

The Palace alleys will undergo their third face-lifting since the construction of the West Center street plant three years ago. Work similar to that done on the Marion lanes will be done at the Palace. When the newer plant closes in August, the Marion will reopen to handle all trade that otherwise might have been taken care of at the Palace. Mr. Case looks for a formal opening of both alleys about Sept. 1, when 1933-34 league bowling will probably get under way.

THE MARION STAR SPORTS

Purple Phantom To Meet Jones

The Purple Phantom, wrestling's man of mystery, will tangle with New York's colored heavy, Rufus Jones, in the two hour main event on tonight's Armory card that, according to Promoter Les Fishbaugh, should pack plenty of punch.

Fans will remember the showing of the Phantom in last week's battle royal when the unknown ace was downed by the other four men in the ring and almost unmasked. This week, probably nothing like that will happen to the Phantom, but he will have a closely contested match on his hands when he meets the clever and tough Jones.

A semi-final that has all the earmarks of being as fast-moving and thrilling as a bout as the main go, will find Gil La Cross, the Boston welder, and Joe Ferona, his fellow lawman and a former Bean City boxer, meeting in the squared circle.

This should be another fiery and rough affair because, as many Marion fans well know, Ferona is no angel when he steps onto the canvas. Indeed, his quickly-aroused temper has been a leading feature in his wrestling career.

Promoter Fishbaugh reminds Marion that enthusiasts that Ferona is more a citizen of Toledo than Boston for he has engaged in defense work in the Lake Erie port for over a year. During his stay in Toledo, he has appeared on many wrestling cards, num-ous times participating in the main event.

This semi-final will be a one hour, two out of three falls bout.

Tonight's preliminary starting at 8:30 at the West Church street arena will furnish the crowd with about as many thrills as either the semi-final or main go for two top-notch eye-gougers. Buddy Knox of Toledo, and Fred Carone will be in the ring. Knox is popular in Marion and should make his struggle with Carone a tasty tid-bit for any follower of the grunt-and-growl sport.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 24—Samples of V. (for Van) mail Directed to this dept. by Pvt. Ray Swafford of the Columbia, S. C. Army air base. "I live in Williamson, W. Va., and it is strictly a Cincinnati fans' town," he reported.

"Frank McCormick is and always will be tops for me as a baseball player. I wrote to Frank the other day and I received my biggest thrill when I received a letter from him and I showed it to everyone. I say to leave baseball men out of the Army to keep the game going."

Definition Doubtful—Abe Green, the NBA president, says that Tony Gaudio's future exhibitions of pounding animated punching bags must be billed only as "entertainment." And what kind of dictionary do you use, Abe?

Quote, Unquote—Pvt. Clinton Bridges (former sparring partner of Joe Louis now at Salt Lake air base): "Look at what boxing taught me. I always managed to keep out of Louis' way."

Shorts and Shells—Fred Mandel and Gus Dorais have dug up a tackle candidate for their Detroit Lions who will sign only if arrangements can be made in Detroit for him to continue his study for an operative career. Why not make him assistant coach and relieve Dorais of the task of singing the blues every Monday?

Today's Guest Star—Bob Dunbar, Boston Herald: "We begin to surmise that lady baseball fans also are patriotic, because the attendance at Ladies' day here has been so small that the logical explanation is that a lot of them have gone to work."

Dodgers Win 2 More, Crowd Cardinals for Loop Top Spot

By The Associated Press

The World Champion St. Louis Cardinals are supposed to be the only big league team in the big leagues, this year, in the opinion of the best judges of baseball talent, and this strangely enough is paying high tribute to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Cardinals are good so good that they can keep players like Jimmy Brown and Johnny Hopp and Danny Litchner jolting on the bench. On the other hand the Dodgers are good so good that they can keep players like Jimmy Brown and Johnny Hopp and Danny Litchner jolting on the bench.

Yet the standings today show this outfit of outliners, of whom only one regular is under 30 years of age, is just half a game out of first place in the National League and harassing the Cardinals every step of the way.

Wallop Giants Twice

Currently they are on a six-game winning streak with five of these victories coming at the expense of the New York Giants, who lost both ends of a double-header yesterday 7-2 and 6-0 and stumbled into the cellar.

The Cardinals were clipped by the Cincinnati Reds 8-3.

At Chicago the Cubs divided a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates to move out of last place for the first time since early May. Claude Passeau pitched a five-hitter to win the first game 4-1, but the Pirates battled back to take the nightcap 7-3.

The Boston Braves nosed out the Philadelphia Phillies twice 1-0 and 4-3 in a pair of air-tight pitching struggles.

The American League also produced some dazzling pictures. Not the least of which was a night game at Philadelphia as the Boston Red Sox beat the A's 1-0 on a fourth-inning home run by Leon Culberson.

Yanks, Senators Split

The New York Yankees and Washington Senators split a pair of shutouts to remain two games apart at the top of the standings.

Milo Candini, the Senators' sensational rookie, achieved his seventh triumph without a defeat in the first game 8-0, allowing only six hits and himself hitting a home run and a double. His victim was Spud Chandler, who (Jumbo) Bonham retaliated in the second game with a 4-0 blanking.

Hal Newhouse limited the Cleveland Indians to five hits in win 3-1 in the first game of doubleheader and then Cleveland captured the second 9-5 in 11 innings.

The Chicago White Sox advanced into sixth place by winning the St. Louis Browns 4-1.

MARKET LOSES UPWARD SWING

Many Leaders Suffer Minor

Relapses as Prospective

Buyers Mark Time.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The recovery swing in today's stock market and, while scattered favorites managed to make a little more progress, many leaders suffered minor relapses.

Customers with cash for speculative or investment purposes, brokers said, inclined to a watching attitude, pending more light on Washington's most anti-inflation and economic policies.

Occasional gainers included Western Union, American Telephone, General Motors, Anaconda, Goodrich, Westinghouse and Sears Roebuck. The rising urge was lacking for U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Bethlehem and Montgomery Ward.

DETROIT—Emotional conflicts of war workers—relatively ignored by industrial medicine—may cause absenteeism, interior output, high sickness rate, and a large labor turnover, two clinical psychiatrists warned in Detroit recently.

Pulling out that most of the efforts of war plant doctors have been directed toward the safety and physical health of workers, the doctors emphasized that recognition of emotional troubles is of greatest importance today because of intense production schedules and the manpower shortage.

The medical men, Drs. John Romano and Milton Rosenbaum of the University of Cincinnati and Cincinnati General Hospital, addressed a group of the nation's topflight psychiatrists who met in Detroit.

Noise in war plants, the huge size of many of the plants, rivalry between the sexes, sleeping difficulties and conflicts caused by psychological problems are among the psychological headaches for war plant officials, the doctors said.

In addition, many emotional problems peculiar to women have entered the picture with the rush of this sex to the assembly lines, they said.

The trouble with diagnosing and treating these mental and emotional ailments, the Cincinnati men cautioned, is that this type of distress "may not reveal itself directly in psychological symptoms, but may run the gamut from absenteeism to occupational accidents—accidents caused by inner conflicts.

Emotional Quirks Appear

Little understood, said the doctors, is the fact that emotional distress may be expressed in the form of "impersonal" or "somatized" symptoms—illness, hysteresis, phobia, hysterical behavior, and feelings of discrimination or depreciation toward fellow workers.

To make it difficult for the psychiatrist, the employee who is anxious to change his department or job, point in the form of a "gripe" about the noise or poor lighting in his plant, he may actually think that is what troubles him.

The immensity of modern war factories may cause an emotional quick in the shy, handicapped or only moderately intelligent worker, said the doctors. These people are overwhelmed by the size of the building, feel insignificant, or fear they are losing their personal identities, Romano and Rosenbaum said.

While some female workers who have masculine traits, and can outproduce the men around them, may develop inner conflicts because they fear jealousy on the part of the men, other women go to the opposite extreme, the scientists reported.

"Many women utilize, capitulate, and exploit their femininity in that although they are supposed to do a man's job, they expect more favors and privileges because they are women," said Rosenbaum.

"I would-bricking," observed the doctors.

Reformed Church Guild

Meets with Mrs. Schultz

Women's Guild of the Reformed church met Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Rudy Schultz, 201 E. 1st St.

The meeting was opened with a poem "High Flight" by Mr. John A. Hoffman, followed by Mrs. Frank K. Klingel, leading devotions. Talks with "Home as the theme" were given by Mrs. Frances Lehner, Mrs. Robert Cleveland and Mrs. Anna Nixon.

Mrs. Cleveland also led a song, "I'm a Soldier's Girl," by Mrs. J. C. Strickland. Mrs. Anna Gorch and Mrs. E. R. Houser also participated in the program. The meeting closed with the reading of the guild pledge and benediction. The next meeting, July 20, will be a noon picnic at the home of Mrs. Carl Lebow of near Marion.

DEMOLAY MEETS

A semi-monthly meeting of the Marion Chapter, No. 248, Order of Demolay, was held last evening in the Masonic Temple with Mr. W. A. Wiant, master, presiding. Three members, John Titus, Jack Robbins and Bertram Freed, passed initiatory degrees under the inspection of Ray M. Erskine, master, John Titus also passed the D. M. degree. The next meeting will be July 7.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADLE GARRISON

DICKY GAVE a very credible imitation of a glare at me, but he did not shut off the trouble in his eyes quite enough to make his stare look convincing. "If you mean," he said slowly, and with the twinkling artfulness in his voice, "that you are going to gum up the works by insisting on being present at this little re-union, then I throw up my hands. I won't tackle the job at all."

"You wouldn't miss it for millions," I told him slyly, "and you know it."

He grinned at me. "Well, maybe I wouldn't," he acknowledged, "but that doesn't alter the fact, light of my life, you aren't going to be in the same room with that piece of art, you'll hamper my style."

"I don't want to be in the same room with her," I said.

He turned on his heels, putting his hands on his hips. "There are two rooms here," he said, "this and the bedroom. Katharine is going to be in there, and she says she doesn't want to hear or see Ruth Hayes. In order to gratify that wish, the bedroom will have to be closed and locked. Now, will you kindly tell me where you intend to park your charming, but highly irritating self?"

Madge Will Hilde

"Right here," I told him, walking sedately to the side of the room, and opening the door of one of its commodious closets. "You see I have put a drapery just inside the door to protect my clothing from dust. With the door just a little ajar, I'm sure Ruth will never notice it, and by drawing the drapery aside a bit from where the door hinges, I shall have a good box seat, provided you are accommodating enough either to have her stand or sit in line with my eyes. I can even take a chair in with me."

I heard a chuckle from Katharine, but my husband stared at me as if I were something strange and puzzling.

"Did you fly in the window, or crawl through a crack in the door?" he demanded. "You're an absolutely new variety of mosquito to me. I guess though, you get your man, all the same, the Mounies. But let me warn you, woman, you'll have to take other things than a chair inside that door. Supply yourself with enough drops and clothes pins for your nose. If you dare to cough or sneeze, or make my other sound, I'll—I'll lose you to Ruth Hayes, and let her go to work on you."

She'll Be Quiet

"A mouse, will have nothing on me," I told him.

"A mouse!" he roared. "Noisier thing in the world! Did you ever hear a mouse in the pantry? No, beloved. That won't do."

"I meant a dead mouse," I told him, wrinkling my nose at him. "But, really, I promise you, Dicky, I won't make the slightest sound. And I do thank you for letting me stick around."

"Letting you!" He raised his hands far above his head and shook them. "Dear Allah listen to the woman! You've simply moved up your troops and made camp. However, I promised at the altar to cherish you, and I suppose supplying box seats at a sporting supposed not to like vegetables. It is woman's responsibility to see that the family eats vegetables by covering the children, warning the men, by camouflaging the disliked vegetables in different ways, with sweets and desserts used as rewards.

A group of American mothers frankly don't understand how they could get the children to eat what is supposed to be good for them without bribes, and yet in many areas of the world—in highly cultured areas—it is not the habit to have desserts as part of the meal at all. This American attitude, as conditioned by the mother's concern, has resulted in a state of mind whereby the growing boy can express his rebellion against parental control by rejecting against certain foods.

These and other results may appear somewhat fantastic and super-psychological and yet it seems to me that they have a good deal of sound basis. The one lesson is that children should be encouraged to eat as great a variety of foods as possible and there should be established early in life a real liking for a variety of foods. I can only say for myself at the present moment that one of the faults of my upbringing is being presented in glaring clarity to me. I wish my parents had taught me to like noodles and spaghetti.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. C.—Some time ago I asked you what heart block was and now I ask you what is Stokes-Adams disease?

Answer: Heart block is a condition of the heart muscle in which the normal contraction wave that passes over the heart from above, downward, is blocked by inflammatory tissue in a muscle bundle. Stokes-Adams disease is a form of heart block.

The Stars Say—

For Friday June 25

JUMPING by the lunar and mutual aspects of June, this is a most auspicious time for putting over unusual projects. Any ideas or skills out of the beaten path should win approval and financial support. If managed with practical constructive cleverness, but it would be wise not to neglect responsibilities or obligations in order to launch such progressive plans. Be ready for change, travel or other dramatic experience. It may be a highly propitious year for making public some ingenious invention, a new or novel technique or skill in an extraordinary creative form. Be alert to envy, jealousy or suspicion from subtle sources.

A child born on this day may have exceptional talents, probably inventive, scientific, dramatic or literary. It may have an adventurous and romantic career, with public recognition.
